

UNC's new
Child Maltreatment Research & Practice Network
presents:

PAPER TIGERS

A powerful documentary about one school's answer to toxic childhood stress

Paper Tigers examines how an alternative high school in a rural community works to heal youth struggling with adverse childhood experiences. The film explores what it means to be a trauma-informed school and how to educate teens whose experiences leave them with a brain and body ill-suited to learn.

FILM SCREENING & NETWORK KICK-OFF

Join us for the film screening, preceded by an introduction of our plans for the new Child Maltreatment Research & Practice Network

Monday, February 12th
12.00-2.00

UNC School of Social Work
Tate-Turner-Kuralt Auditorium

With a discussion about trauma-informed systems

Monday, February 19th 12.15-1.15
Michael Hooker Research Center 3005